

THERMOFORMING PROCESS DEVELOPMENT

Kinga Byrska-Bienias

Abstract: University of Bielsko-Biala
Department of Industrial Engineering

The article presents the procedure for identifying the correct order to implement the considered options for the improvement of working conditions on a selected sample workstation. Presented adopted criteria introduced restrictions connected with the determination of different variants of solutions. There have been determining the area of Pareto optimal solutions using the Yager method. Suggestions for improvement can be expanded to include fuzzy logic solutions.